March 2020

Hello everyone,

The city of Fort Worth has notified the Texas Satin group that we will not be able to have our national all satin show. This will serve as official notice that we will not have a 2020 Nass.

These are scary and uncertain times that we are in. We pray that you remain safe and healthy.

During the last few days it became fairly clear that there was a good chance we are were not going to have a Nass. Texas Satins, Western States and the ASRBA board have come up with a plan to allow both groups the opportunity to host Nass in the future. Texas Satins will host Nass in 2021 and Western States will host Nass in 2022. Details will follow on both as time goes on.

The health and safety of our members is the number one concern. Take care of yourselves and each other. We will see everyone at the 2020 national convention.
